20. Given the current mission, major programs, and major operational objectives of the department/agency to which you have been nominated, what in your background or employment experience do you believe affirmatively qualifies you for appointment to the position for which you have been nominated, and why do you wish to serve in that position?

Throughout 27 years of service I continuously accepted positions of leadership in order to advance national, departmental and agency priorities. I have a proven record of Operational leadership experience across the Homeland Security Enterprise to include regulatory, incident management, emergency response/ search and rescue, administrative/ personnel management, law enforcement expertise, safety, security, stewardship and resiliency. I come from a background of military and public service. Like many in my family, being a military officer and in public service is my chosen profession and I am extremely honored to be selected for Flag Rank and, if confirmed, will continue to be of service to our Nation, and lead and serve alongside the men and women of the United States Coast Guard.

21. What do you believe are your responsibilities, if confirmed, to ensure that the department/agency has proper management and accounting controls, and what experience do you have in managing a large organization?

It is my responsibility/ duty to stay informed and ensure that the proper management and accounting controls within my span of control are appropriately complied with and continuously assessed for effectiveness.

I have held several management/ leadership positions to include:

Commander, Sector Miami from May 2016 – May 2019. Served as Captain of the Port, Federal Maritime Security Coordinator, Search and Rescue Mission Coordinator and Officer in Charge of Marine Inspection. Responsible for the safe and efficient execution of all Coast Guards missions within Southeast Florida, approx. 250,000 square nautical mile Area of Responsibility including 4 ports (1st and 3rd busiest cruise ship ports in the world.) Led 900 Active Duty and Reserve Personnel and 1300 Auxiliarists at four boat stations, two Aids to Navigation Teams, a Marine Safety Detachment and 11 cutters.

Chief of Staff where I serve as the Executive Agent for the District Commander, a Coast Guard Rear Admiral. Lead field and staff efforts to safely execute all missions within the four-state region of the Pacific Northwest along international border with Canada. Provide strategic vision and direction in support of Coast Guard Commandant Intent and Direction. Support 3500 Coast Guard members in Area of Responsibility to include Active Duty, Reserve, Civilian and Auxiliary members. Exercise Administrative and Operational Control of three Coast Guard Sectors/Air Stations and Marine Forces Protection Unit Bangor. Oversee $20 million budget and $700 million in shore infrastructure.

22. What do you believe to be the top three challenges facing the department/agency, and why?

Ability to Prevent and Respond to Cyber Incidents in the Maritime

Environment: As the lead federal agency protecting our Nation's maritime critical infrastructure, the Coast Guard's maritime safety and security missions are more complex as innovative technologies are developed and exploited. Cyber networks are central to the operation of the maritime transportation system. If compromised by criminals, they could disrupt the energy transfer between ports and fuel tankers or disrupt shipping lanes and cause the seizure or destruction of critical infrastructure causing human and environmental loss as well as economic damage. Key to combatting this threat is having the right people, with the right skills, talents and experience. The competition for this type of talent is huge. The Nation's economic health and military security are inescapably tied to the health of its ports and waterways requiring the Coast Guard to grow and retain the best and brightest to help in this mission space as well.

Shore Infrastructure: The Coast Guard has a significant backlog of shore infrastructure needs. Resilient shore infrastructure is directly connected to operational readiness and successful mission execution. While the service has received funding to recapitalize both ships and aircraft, future investment in shore infrastructure is vital to properly sustain and operate these assets. It is also vital to the retention and well-being of our members and families to provide them with modern, environmentally safe workspaces and housing. Due to the nature of the Coast Guard's coastal missions a percentage of our members and families are stationed in remote areas without a DOD presence and a local housing market that is limited and/or seasonal requiring Coast Guard owned housing.

Arctic Mission: As the Nation's primary maritime presence in the Polar Regions, the Coast Guard protects and advances national interests through polar operational capability, regulatory authority, and international leadership across the full spectrum of maritime governance. Receding Arctic sea ice has increased human activity in the region and exposed the seabed to exploration and extraction of natural resources. China and Russia are exerting increased influence in the Arctic. At-sea presence is intrinsic to protecting American interests in the Arctic. Only heavy polar icebreakers can ensure year-round access to both Polar Regions guaranteeing our sovereign rights and ensuring national security and protecting commerce and lives. The Nation needs a modern, flexible, and innovative Coast Guard to meet the challenge of protecting the homeland and its citizens living in this unique part of the United States. A U.S. Coast Guard capable of advancing national interests in the Arctic, strengthening partnerships, and promoting safe, secure, and legal economic activity, including commercial transportation and resource development.
