Dear Members of the Georgia Congressional Delegation:

On behalf of the University System of Georgia (USG) and our 25 public colleges and universities, I write to express our support for the Senate-passed Protect College Sports Act (PCSA) and encourage the U.S. House of Representatives to pass the legislation without amendment.

College athletics has reached a point where continued uncertainty is simply not sustainable. University leaders are being asked to make significant financial, operational, and long-term decisions without a clear and consistent national framework. The current environment creates challenges that individual institutions, athletic conferences, and states cannot resolve on their own.

Across the USG, our institutions compete at different levels of intercollegiate athletics, with vastly different resources and operating models. Yet the challenges facing college sports do not stop at Division I. Decisions being made at the federal level will impact how institutions across our system manage their athletics programs, protect student-athletes, and maintain financially sustainable opportunities for competition. We need a national framework that recognizes these differences while providing the stability our institutions need to plan responsibly.

The Protect College Sports Act is an important step toward bringing needed clarity and stability to college athletics. While the legislation may not address every issue, the Senate has taken meaningful action, and we believe it is important to build on that progress rather than restart the process.

As the House considers this legislation, our position is straightforward:

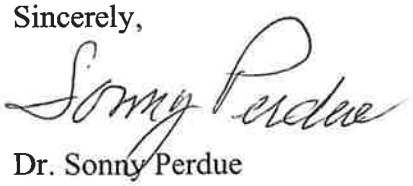

- We support the Protect College Sports Act and the establishment of a consistent national framework for college athletics.
- We encourage passage of the Senate-approved legislation without amendment to avoid further delays.
- We are committed to working with Georgia's congressional delegation and House leadership to see this legislation enacted this year.

We appreciate the considerable work that has gone into advancing this legislation. The challenges facing college athletics will not become easier with another year of uncertainty. Our university presidents, athletics administrators, and student-athletes need a more predictable environment in which to plan and operate.

I respectfully ask for your support in moving the Protect College Sports Act through the House and to the President's desk before the end of this Congress.

Thank you for your service to Georgia and your continued support of our state's public colleges and universities.

Sincerely,

Dr. Sonny Perdue
Chancellor
University System of Georgia
